

AT A GLANCE

The Kleinman Center fosters impactful research, develops the next generation of energy leaders, and provides a home for stakeholders to explore complex issues.

WHAT WE OFFER

RESEARCH GRANTS

Professors and doctoral candidates across campus seek our support for new or existing research on energy policy topics.

VISITING SCHOLARS

Each semester, we welcome distinguished visitors from other universities and institutions to Penn for collaborative weeklong residencies.

CENTER RESEARCH

Our faculty and staff design interdisciplinary projects with true impact—tackling today's urgent regional, national, and global energy challenges.

PUBLICATIONS

We publish papers, policy briefs, blog posts, and podcast episodes on a wide array of topics—from India's energy transition to U.S. offshore wind.

STUDENT GRANTS

Students seek our support for experiential learning. Grants help fund student research, conference attendance, or internships.

CERTIFICATE

A Certificate in Energy Management and Policy opens the door to a career in energy—with a respected credential built on targeted coursework.

EVENTS

The Energy Forum is our gathering place for lectures and conversations with the world's leading energy experts.

CARNOT PRIZE

Our signature event is the annual Carnot Prize. Each fall we honor those who make distinguished contributions to energy policy.